

Ophthalmology Community Wet Lab: Yamane Technique and Iris Defect Repair Workshop

TWO SESSIONS OFFERED: Tuesday, June 4 or Wednesday, June 5
(10 attendees per session)

5:30 pm - Didactic Session ♦ 6:00 pm to 8:00 pm – Wet Lab

UPMC Eye Center – Eye and Ear Institute – Temporal Bone Lab and Room 150
203 Lothrop St, Pittsburgh, PA 15213

Yamane Technique and Iris Defect Repair Workshop

(including practice for anterior vitrectomy from pars plana approach for the anterior surgeon)

Course Directors Ian Conner, MD, PhD and Sharon Taylor, MD, FACS

Target Audience Ophthalmologists who are exploring or would like to learn the indications and surgical steps required for Yamane scleral IOL fixation technique and iris defect repair.

Overview and Objectives At the end of the session, participants will:

- Learn the indications and surgical steps required for Yamane scleral IOL fixation technique.
- Practice successful steps for anterior vitrectomy by pars plana approach in the setting of unexpected vitreous presentation during cataract surgery.

Instructors Ian Conner, MD, PhD - Assistant Professor of Ophthalmology; Director, Glaucoma and Cataract Service
Director, Glaucoma Fellowship; Associate Residency Program Director; Ophthalmology Section Chief, UPMC
Shadyside UPMC Eye Center

Deepinder Dhaliwal, MD - Professor of Ophthalmology, University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine;
Director of Refractive Surgery and the Cornea Service, UPMC Eye Center; Founder and Director, Center for Integrative Eye Care, University of Pittsburgh

Alex Mammen, MD - Clinical Assistant Professor of Ophthalmology; Cornea, Cataract and External
Disease Services; Refractive Surgery Service; University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine

Thierry Verstraeten, MD – Retina-Vitreous Disease Specialist – Pittsburgh Allegheny Retina Consultants

Registration begins May 19th / Register at www.pghoph.org

Fee: POS member - Complimentary / Non-Member - $200*

*Non-member fee of $200 will be applied to 2019 membership dues for a physician who has not been a member in the past 5 years. (Annual dues are $375.00)

Questions: Contact Nadine Popovich, administrator: npopovich@acms.org or (412) 321-5030

This program is intended to provide instruction leading to new knowledge and/or skills.

The Pittsburgh Ophthalmology Society and UPMC Eye and Ear does not certify competence upon completion of the program.

Thank you to the following who provided program support:

Bausch & Lomb and Microsurgical Technology